The strained relations which for a long arvers of this city and their employers, as culminated in the lock-out of all the men employed by four of the biggest t will spread. The firms mentioned are Baumgarten & Co., Herts Bros., Schastey & Co., Kimball & Sons and Herter

Several hundred men are interested directly in the lock-out, and from their ment but a determination of the employers to ultimately reduce wages. The whole trouble is over the question whether or not eight or nine nours shall consitute a day's work. The workmen insist that the former shall go into effect and the manufacturers, the latter. Inasmuch as the men are paid by the hour the point liself from an outsider's view seems of little consequence. tandpoint they see nothing in the move-nent but a determination of the em-the point liself from an outsider's view seems of little consequence.

"The fact is," said Walking Delegate Jacob E. Bausch, of the Wood-Carvers' Association, to an "Evening World" reporter this morning, "that in view of the present depression in business, workingmen are a-xious to see that their fellows get as much employment as possible. They are willing to sacrifice a good deal, and when the manufacturers cannot possibly lose a dollar by employing m're men to do their work when all are paid only for the number of hours actually engaged, they cannot see why there should be any objection. We want to work only eight hours a day, because that means employment to more because that means employment to more men."

The action of the four firms named was reported to the Wood Carvers' Union at their last meeting, and a resolution was unanimously passed to issue a manifesto to the public explaining their position.

The manifesto refers to the fact that a partial strike occurred in 1892 for the eight-hour system, and that non-union men took the places of strikers in some instances, and a lock-out followed. The strike was abandoned by the other trades interested, but the wood-carvers themselves continued the warfare until October, 1892, when, owing to increased business, the inanufacturers were obliged to take the men back on their own terms. As soon as the rush was over, however, the manufacturers insisted on the old terms again. Another clash followed, and after a long warfare the manufacturers, according to the manifesto, were forced to make terms again in 1893.

Walking Desegate Bausch, who was also Chairman of the Committee which drafted the manifesto, said that several hundred men were now out of employment in consequence of the lockout. The matter will probably come up before the Central Labor Union on Sunday.

Two Hungarian Immigrants Chased Through Hoboken's Streets.

Charles Hansko and M. Robooackio, Hungarian laborers who were to be re-turned to their native land by the United tates Government, broke away from United States Special Agent Gaines, who was about to put them on board of one of the Wilson line steamers, in Hoboken, this morning.

The two mer ran down River street at top speed. Gaines gave chase and after a run of half a mile succeeded in capturing them. The Hungarians fought like flends as they did not want to go back. It took five policemen to take them to the police-station. They were locked up until this afternoon when they were placed on board of the steamer and watched until the boat sailed.

The Senate Sub-Committee on Contested Elections, consisting of Senators Pond, Mullin and Wolf, met in the Aldermanic Chamber of the City Hall, in Brooklyn, to-day. The first case called was that of Henry Wolfert against John McCarty.

Kiendi, who appeared for Wolfert, made the statement that there were 3,000 illegal that he will discourage the increase of votes cast in Gravesend during the recent election, and 500 in Richmond County.

cently taken before Justice Cullen in the Assembly cases. Ex-Scinitor McCarren, who appeared for McCarry, vigorously objected to this, claiming he had not had an opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses 4824,387.16 since Dec. 31, 1893.

Mr. Pond, the young Chairman of the Committee, admitted that, if necessary, the witnesses would be produced for cross-examination.

Mr. Klendl indicated his intention of endeavoring to prove that there was fraud in the polling of votes by the inmates of Saliors' Snug Harbor by calling Dr. Henry D. Jay, the physican there. A list of seventy-two of the sell-ors was read, and Dr. Jay testified that all were able to vote without assistance. It is alleged that the poll-list shows that all thuse men were assisted in voting. Town Clerk O'Grady, of New Brighton, produced election documents. Then Clerk Hodgkiss, of Saliors' Snug Harbor, who called, and a list of names of men who are alleged to have voted at the election was read.

It took an hour to get over the list. A small portion of it was as follows:

Peter Shay, ded Aur. 7, 1992, James Stewart, left for Philadelpha Nov. J. Jacob Stewart.

Peter Shay, died Aug. 7, 1892; James Stewart, left for Philadelphia Nov. 2: Joseph Stotson, wen to Liverpool in July; G. Westerman, left July; 1: John Poster, died June 12, 1887; E. F. Hughes, left the institution; J. Hopkins, died March 7, 1887; W. P. Healey, no such name; Martin John 800, died Aug. 16, 1882.

McCarty, there were registered 5,44 voters.

"Do you consider that increase due to other than natural sources?" asked Mr. McCarren.

"I don't know," stammered Voorhis, and all the spectators laughed.

Lawyer Ogden then testified to a test of rapid voting recently made at the Union League Club, He said a polling place was fixed up and a number of ciubmen, intelligent men, he wanted it understood, voted under names taken from a Gravesend registry list.

The operation was continued twenty minutes, and in that time twenty-seven votes were east. He concluded from that that a yote a minute was pretty rapid that a vote a minute was pretty rapid work. He, therefore, thought that it was phsically impossible for the votes at Grfavesend to have been legally cast at the last election.

Legislation will be asked to provide for the payment of all such moneys directly to the City Treasury, and to give to local authorities discretionary power to make appropriations to such societies and institutions as they may think entitled to receive them. During the year the Department of Arrears has collected the sum of $595,645.98. The total assessable value of the city has increased from $183,739,829 in 1892 to $596,654.65 in 1893, or $2,314.847. The assessed value of the 3,427 new buildings erected during 1893 is $15,296,550.

Three new schools were completed during the past year, seating 4,222 pupils, and the capacity of existing schools was increased 1,725 pupils.

The Building Department has issued permits for 3,03 new buildings, estimated to cost $14,488,424.

The Legislature will be asked to enact a revised building law, patterned after the laws affecting New York City, which, the Mayor says, is very much needed in the department.

The proceedings to acquire all the property needed for the Liberty street extension of the big bridge have been completed with one exception, and all the property, with three exception, and all the property.

Mayor Schieren deplores the delay in completing the enlargement of the bridge terminal facilities. He says he will give the matter his attention later. The report of the Department of City Works shows that it had a balance Nov. 19, 1893, of $308,749,96.

The tax-levy accounts at the close of Nov. 26, 1893, show a total amount available in the sum of $2,533,395,32, and a net balance of $434,935,25 for the purpose of liquidating claims, unpaid bills, &c.

The total mileage of streets reported cleaned during the year, to Nov. 39, 1893, inclusive, was 14,651,517-1000 miles, at a cost of $336,616,45.

The report of the Electrical Subway Commissioners shows that during the year there was an increase of overhead wires of 1,107 miles; underground, 2,116.
